The Breckenridge Outdoor Education Center (BOEC) brings you Outdoor Adventures Within, specifically designed for adults living with multiple sclerosis or Parkinson's disease.

This summer retreat provides unique physical outdoor experiences and features activities such as adaptive cycling, rafting, whitewater rafting, canoeing, kayaking, hiking, high ropes course, rock climbing and plenty of time to enjoy the pristine mountain setting at our 39-acre wilderness campus overlooking historic Breckenridge, Colorado. Evenings include home cooked meals, sharing stories, campfires, and a time to relax. All specialty equipment, instruction, fun, fellowship, and laughs are included free of charge.

You are welcome to bring a friend, family member, or care attendant, if needed.

REGISTRATION

Registration is open and applications will be accepted up until one month prior to course start. Applicants will be screened for appropriateness by BOEC upon receipt of a completed application packet and deposit. Space is limited to 10 participants. Please contact Claire DiCola at 970-453-6422 or claire@boec.org to request an application.

COST

$900 (A scholarship application is included in the enrollment packet). Included in the trip cost: Food, rustic accommodation, all group gear and specialty equipment, transportation during the course, and 24-hour instruction and supervision by professional BOEC staff members. A $425 additional cost applies for friends, family, or caretakers.

Round-trip transportation from the greater Denver area to Breckenridge can be arranged through BOEC for an additional cost of $100.
